Executive Summary

Following this Equality Impact Assessment, the function should go ahead as planned.

A number of protected characteristics have been identified as potentially being subject to adverse impact, however all affected residents will be impacted by Phase 3.

Some positive impacts have also been identified as residents have benefited in moving to more suitable accommodation.

Adverse impacts have been mitigated by numerous support mechanisms offered by the Pride in Camp Hill Service.

This EIA will continue to be reviewed & monitored should any further information/issues be identified during the implementation of Phase 3.

Consideration has also been given to those residents living outside the Phase 3 Regeneration boundary line. As public access rights and public open spaces remain unaffected there are no apparent negative impact and the EIA will continue to be monitored and reviewed should any information/issues are identified.
